

I'm going to tell you how to become a MONEY-MAKING YOUTUBER. Step by step, inch by inch.

BUT FIRST...

Do you have 24-30 hours a week to spend on YouTube?
If you don't, just walk away right now.

OR

I can do it for you.

Anyone can do this IF they have time. That's my point. Do you have the time? Why do you think most YouTubers are KIDS or STUDENTS? Because they have the TIME.

No, you don't have the time. But I do. And I love doing it. Pay me to do it and sooner than you think, you'll wake up one day and you'll be YouTube Wealthy & Famous. And in today's world, being YouTube Wealthy & Famous = being Wealthy & Famous, period. The sky's the limit as far as income streams on YouTube (I'll explain in the next few pages.) This is the way to get paid, period.

You want to get YouTube Famous, Make YouTube Money, and Drive a lot of YouTube Traffic to your Channel, Website, Product, and Affiliates? Well, you better start now. To make it happen, it'll take 6 months to 1 year. Can you imagine where you'll be next year if you start now?

Still need convincing? You would basically be paying me pennies to do it for you UNTIL the channel starts making money, at which time you would just give me a percentage of the channel. You really think I'd work for pennies if I didn't think your channel would eventually make money that I could get a percentage of? There's an audience for everyone and I know exactly how to tap into that audience through trending research and video content production.

Still not convinced?

Read on, I'm going to tell you how to do everything WITHOUT ME. I'm going to give away every secret right now. And it costs you nothing.

Here you go...Step-by-Step. First Stats, then Steps.

I'm revealing to you below step-by-step everything you need to do – I've compiled all steps in this easy-to-read document. This way, if you decide to go it on your own, you know what to do. Just make sure you have 24-30 hours per week, okay? Where most people fall short is the follow-through. They get off to a roaring start in the beginning, but life gets in the way, and they stop posting content. Before I give you the steps, let's look at a few success stats I've compiled for you.

The Tangible Reality of YouTube Success

TV and network television is DEAD. That's why all the corporations selling products are going after YouTubers. Some of the highest viewed TV shows are getting anywhere between 250K to maybe 1.5 mil viewers. The cost of running TV ads are in the hundreds of thousands to millions. Contrast this with a young teen YouTuber doing a makeup tutorial or a middle-aged amateur cook in his home kitchen getting 500K to 3 mil views on one video. Corporations are swarming around these people, throwing advertising dollars at them, trying to piggyback onto their audiences. Below I have compiled for you stories of people just like you and me who have used these steps to achieve success financially on YouTube. It's working like a charm and is within anyone's reach. Here are the World's Highest-Paid YouTube Stars 2015 according to Forbes:

$8.5 million in 2015

Benny and Rafi Fine $8.5 million, in addition to a movie deal for Smosh and a Nickelodeon show and Daytime Emmy for the Fines.

$6 million in 2015

Lindsey Stirling, the dancing violinist is more mesmerizing than it sounds. She used YouTube to propel her to fame and $6 million in earnings over 12 months.

$4.5 million in 2015

Rhett & Link, aka Rhett McLaughlin and Charles Lincoln Neal III, have also turned laughs into serious bucks. The duo made $4.5 million through various sponsored content deals.

$3 million in 2015

Michelle Phan may be one of the more well-known names on the list, but this beauty entrepreneur lands close to the bottom with $3 million.

$2.5 million in 2015

Lilly Singh, known as Superwoman, earned $2.5 million over the past year with her jokes.

David After Dentist. Cute kids can help a YouTube video tremendously. David After Dentist, a two-minute video of a six-year old, post-teeth cleaning, has been viewed more than 100 million times. That has translated into more than 100K.

Philly D. Philip DeFranco has built several popular YouTube channels with millions of subscribers in total. The channel revolves around what Franco describes as non news related things to yo face!•Philly D earns close to $200,000 annually from his YouTube videos.

NOW ONTO YOUR STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE

THE EXACT STEPS you must execute to be a successful YouTuber and to build a successful YouTube channel. These steps CANNOT be skipped and must be completed weekly without exception.

Remember, YouTube is just like TV and your audience wants to see new content from you on a consistent day and time. If you tune in to see your favorite TV show and it's not on, what do you do? You find something new. And you need subscribers to make sure you have people that will watch your videos on a regular basis. Your subs are notified every time you upload something new, so it's an instant view. That's why a single video, no matter how good it is, is not enough for YouTube success.

Videos on YouTube are like TV shows, if you don't have a new episode on the same day every week, you will not only stop your channel from growing, but you will even start to lose subscribers, as they will simply hunt down a new channel just like yours to satisfy their hunger to watch. Uploading video content on a regular basis builds momentum, increases your video's ranking in the search, and keeps your audience engaged.

A successful YouTube Channel has a minimum of one day a week where a new video is posted and that day needs to stay consistent. So if you pick Tuesday, then every Tuesday your channel needs a new video. It has to be run like a TV network to work. Besides the main post day it is always a good idea to throw a few other videos up randomly when something is trending on YouTube, so you also need to understand how to watch for trending topics even before they hit virally. If your channel is posting videos correctly and posting 4-6 videos a month, never missing a main post day, you're going to see success eventually.

LIST of the TOP 20 ONGOING TASKS that must be executed FOR EVERY VIDEO UPLOADED:

1. Optimize Youtube Channel and SEO.
2. Branding and SEO of Youtube Channel.

16. Additional Social network management for postings, outreach, marketing of your channel including PPC on other Social networks to drive traffic to your YouTube channel.

17. Show Scheduling, uploading and blogging to promote the channel, these videos must go up on YouTube on the same day every week (once per week minimum.)

18. Brainstorm and come up with new video concepts to storyboard for the next week's video.

19. Youtube thumbnail:

20. Youtube EndCard:

UNDERSTANDING THE TIME INVOLVED

Be prepared to set aside 3 full days a week (96+ hours per month) and your channel will start seeing financial success, popularity, and fame. The channel will start to make money within 6-12 months as long as you stay on this schedule.

There of course is an added bonus if you're selling a product and trying to drive traffic to your website, etc.

YouTube/Google is the #1 search engine now and that's not going to change. Google looks at YouTube first over all else, so even if your channel's not making money for a few months, you will still get a lot of traffic to your product or website from all the videos you upload and optimize. YouTube is the #1 marketing tool out there today.

OVERWHELMED BY THE TIME FACTOR? LIKE I TOLD YOU...I CAN DO IT FOR YOU.

My price to do all the above is $2500 a month, or 30% profit whichever is higher. You, as the channel owner, also need to spend a minimum of $300 for rollover ads and other advertising to have all pistons firing. If you want the channel to take off faster and can afford it, I would spend more on advertising. The more advertising and rollover ads, the faster the channel will grow.

- Youtuber Individual Price: $2500 per month
- Small business starting at: $3500 per month
- Corporate Company Price: $4500 per month and up

AND NOW I LEAVE YOU IN REAL TIME AND WITH REAL TALK

In real time prices and real talk, this breaks down to about $25/per hour of my time. I wouldn't work at that rate, unless I thought your channel would eventually make me more money. Period. Thanks for reading. I know this guide will help you.
